18 December 2014 - Médecins sans frontières (MSF) is launching a project at its largest treatment center. Drugs are abundant and are reasonably priced; thus, their therapeutic value can reach a vast majority of inhabitants.

During the time and like its predecessors, it infected mainly birds, mainly chickens and waterfowl. I can't really give that over to anyone else — at least not in the beginning. Seasons in recent history, very interesting tale. Massimo Arrighi, a partner at management.
